EMOSIS & I

« I applied at Emosis because I wanted a job where I could use both my skills in communication and my background in biology »

« I wanted to work in a place that makes things change and where I could see my efforts contributing to those changes. Working as a scientist in research labs was great but not what I wanted to do as an everyday job, that is why I chose to do a degree in Marketing and Communication.

« Thanks to my last internship as a communication assistant, I also knew I wanted to work in a small and fast-growing company. Emosis offers that kind of work environment that allows me to grow, whether it is to increase my autonomy, my responsibilities, or my versatility.

My added value for Emosis :

- One of my greatest assets is my dual competence in biology and communication. It gives me the necessary knowledge to understand the fundamentals of our products and our sector of activity to achieve an efficient and relevant communication.

On a more personal level, I am a very optimistic person with a lot of convictions, which allows me to improve the team cohesion and the good mood within Emosis. »
